Presenters

Steve Bustos is an Everence® Stewardship Consultant, helping congregations and not-for-profit organizations with their stewardship education and charitable planning needs, and helping individuals create charitable giving plans in line with their faith and values.

Lyle Miller serves as an Everence® Stewardship Consultant. He is passionate about helping congregations, individuals and not-for-profit, faith-based organizations with their stewardship education and charitable planning needs.

Chandler Ingle is an Everence® Financial Consultant, a CERTIFIED FINANCIAL PLANNER™ Professional and Chartered SRI Counselor™, focused on empowering individuals and organizations to align their faith values and financial decisions.

Jeremy Shue has lived his life both interested in business and called to ministry. For 11 years he served Silverwood Mennonite Church as a part time pastor, and simultaneously started Re-Gen, Inc., an industrial plastic recycling and processing business. In 2021 he stepped down from official church ministry and became President of the business. He lives in Goshen with his wife Laura, and four kids (and still attends Silverwood Mennonite).
